Empathy

Empathy poster:

Empathy means when someone is crying and you cheer them up and become friends. If you see someone crying just say are you okay and say do you want to play with me and then you can cheer them up. You can say a lot of words to cheer someone up just like are you okay, are you fine, do you want to play with me these are some words to cheer someone up.

Resilience is having a positive attitude even when things get hard

It's also pushing through something hard and difficult

Resilience

Resilience is adapting to a change that you might not want

Anything is possible

A screenshot of a digital audio workstation (DAW) interface, likely Ableton Live, showing a multi-track arrangement. The interface is dark-themed with various icons and controls.

Top Bar: Contains icons for file operations, session view, arrangement view, and various settings. It also includes a play button, a stop button, and a volume slider.

Tracks: The tracks are arranged vertically, each with a unique icon on the left:

- Roots Rock: A guitar track with a green background, containing a single green line representing a melody.
- Modern 808: A drum track with a green background, containing a single green line representing a drum pattern.
- P-Bass: A bass track with a green background, containing a single green line representing a bass line.
- Grand Piano: A piano track with a green background, containing a single green line representing a piano melody.
- Altered St...Arpeggio: A track with a blue background, containing a blue line representing an arpeggiated pattern.
- Epic Cloud Formation: A track with a green background, containing a green line representing a cloud formation pattern.
- Modern 808: A drum track with a green background, containing a single green line representing a drum pattern.

Bottom Bar: Contains a master volume slider, transport controls (play, stop, solo, mute), and a timeline with a playhead at 0:09 and a total duration of -0:24.
